THE HOUSTON CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL 2012

The largest children's festival in the United States is set for March 31 & April 1 in Downtown Houston

HOUSTON – The Houston Children's Festival, the largest children's festival in the United States is set for Saturday, March 31 and Sunday, April 1, from 10:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. in downtown Houston. Presented by Baker Hughes, the festival benefits Child Advocates, Inc. Special attractions include the Sunday only appearance of James Maslow, star of Nickelodeon's hit show, "Big Time Rush," and the popular boy band by the same name. On Saturday, Radio Disney presents Raini Rodriguez, who stars as Trish on the Disney Channel Original Series "Austin & Ally." The excitement includes ten Big Family Adventure Zones, five stages of entertainment and over three hundred fun activities.
